

Best Cough Mixture Is Home Made

Acts With Speed—Loosens the Phlegm—Stops the Irritation and Coughing Cesses

FINE FOR CHEST COLDS TOO AND IS CHEAPLY MADE AT HOME.

When you can make, in two minutes, a good, strong remedy that acts directly on the membrane and often over night cures stubborn coughs and even hard chest colds to disappear, why trifle with things that will probably disappoint?

Hawking and snuffling, and also soreness of the mucous membrane go and you will feel fine in almost no time.

Just get one ounce of Parmitol (double strength), add to it a little sugar and enough hot water to make a half pint, and you've got an inexpensive remedy better than you can buy ready mixed.

The soothing, healing action on the membrane is the reason so many people use it for catarrh and acute nasal colds.

TO FIND OUT OF WORK BEST SUITED TO THE INDIVIDUAL

New York, Feb. 15.—During the last of January through psychology applied to finding each individual the sort of work he is best fitted to perform, was the announced aim of a group of psychologists who incorporated today under the name of the Psychological Corporation, with headquarters in New York.

The plan of the board of directors headed by Dr. James H. Angell, president of Yale university, is to give tests similar to the army intelligence tests given during the war, the results of which will be used as a basis of vocational guidance.

Through this method the incorporators announced, it is hoped to double the national wealth each year by avoiding mistakes in business and professional life.

The Psychological Corporation is said by its organizers to be the first in the business law of any state whose objects are the advancement of science and whose earnings must be used for scientific research.

The president of the corporation is J. McKee Cattell, former Columbia professor, who recently compromised suits against the university for $150,000, the outgrowth of his alleged "pacific" activities during the war.

Universalist Young People's Present Clever Comedy.

The Colonel's Maid, a three-act comedy, was presented at the church of the Good Shepherd on Thursday evening by the Y. P. C. U. of the church to a large audience. The play is one that invests the home life of the south and the love affairs of the sons and daughters of the south. The cast was exceptionally well chosen, each character being portrayed with unusual charm and realism.

The plot of the play is one that gives ample opportunity for the display of bright humor and many absurd situations.

The two old quick-tempered southern colonels are played by Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Armstrong, who take their parts with unusual ability. TELLS COUNTY POMONA OF SIX YEARS OF FARMING WITH BACTERIA

Norwich, Friday, Feb. 17, 1922.

An address on Six Years Farming With Bacteria, by Prof. W. M. Esten of Connecticut Agricultural College Experiment Station, was the feature of the meeting of New London County Pomona Grange held Thursday in Stier's hall, Main street.

The storm and snow closed roads had considerable effect on the size of the gathering. Worthing Master C. M. Adams of Groton presided at the meeting which opened at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Two candidates were obligated and received the degree of members in the morning session. The conferring of the fifth degree which was slated on the program went over to the next meeting. At noon basket luncheon was enjoyed. Refreshments were provided by Norwich grange, No. 172, P. O. F.

Address by Prof. Esten.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock with the master in the chair. G. Warren Davis acted as lecturer in the absence of Mr. Mans Billis, who was detained at home by illness. The speaker, Judge Allyn B. Brown, who is a resident of the county, gave a most interesting and instructive address on the subject of farming with bacteria.

Prof. Esten spoke as follows: The experiment which I have named independent fertility club. In the six years it has been operated the first farm manures were used as food for bacteria and organic matter. For the last two years I have been using the bacteria and food for plants, thus establishing it on the self supporting or independent basis. When the first was taken over in 1916 for experimental purposes the land was not worth over $100 an acre. After six years soil building the land is worth $500 to $1,000 an acre. The increase in value of the land has been over 500 per cent. or total increase of 2000 per cent.
